The labor difficulty in Chicago has become so acute that the visions of a peaceful settlement are most gratifying.

A fusion ticket might help the Democrats to a county office this year, but The Times doubts it, as the only Republicans who favor it are those who are holding office from the results of a fusion two years ago.

The declaration of Mayor Barclay at the gathering of Barre and Quincy manufacturers last evening, that more work had come into Barre in the past six weeks than can be cut this season without an increase in the number of workmen in Barre, will be cheering news to many.

Charles J. Bell of Walden is in Washington, D. C., and was today scheduled to have a conference with President Roosevelt. Now don't get worried. The President isn't about to pick off our governor-to-be for a cabinet position or a government commission. It is said that Bell's visit has relation to the appointment of a successor to the late Col. Brigham, as assistant secretary of agriculture.

Representative and also Reverend John A. Dixon, who represented Hardwick most ably in the last legislature and who fought the license, local option bill tooth and nail, positively declines a re-election or to have his name used in connection with the place. To all his friends he is giving an emphatic "No." It takes most men a large amount of self persuasion to reach the point where they can turn down political preferment, but the Rev. Dixon appears to have himself pretty well in control. He did make a strong member of the house last session for that reason.

What is a "fair trial"? In another column we publish a letter from an occasional correspondent suggesting another referendum of the liquor question. The idea is worth considering. There is a commendable disposition on all sides to give the present law a fair trial, but whether a fair trial means to allow the law to remain in force until even its friends are disgusted with it, is an open question. Liquor laws, like baby foods and politicians, are sometimes over-advertised by their loving friends.—St. Johnsbury Republican.

The Republican and its esteemed correspondent ought to know that the time has not been long enough to give any kind of a law a "fair trial," and it probably knows that some people are not disposed to give it a fair trial in spite of protestations to the contrary.

M'CLELLAN AT ESOPUS.

Goes Up River on Yacht to Call on Judge Parker.

Esopus, N. Y., July 30.—Mayor McClellan's yachting trip was the main topic of interest. Judge Parker is said to have received his first knowledge of the contemplated visit from the newspaper men. He knew that the mayor expected to visit him on the Supphire, John B. McDonald's white steam yacht, but was not looking for him before next week. Judge Parker said that Mayor McClellan's visit was first mentioned by Judge Morgan J. O'Brien. The mayor had been invited to accompany the Tammany delegation to Rosemount on Wednesday, but a sudden press of municipal business prevented his acceptance of the invitation, and the date was left open.

The camera invasion in its new form of moving picture machines scored a victory after three days of unsuccessful maneuvering. Three machines, placed like a battery of mountain howitzers, at the crown of the hill just outside of the Rosemount gate, ambushed Judge Parker as he left his grounds for his daily horseback ride and secured some characteristic pictures.

After his ride the Judge remained quietly in his library, disposing of his mail, which has been rather lighter this week than the average.

Rioting in Kansas City.

Kansas City, July 30.—Rioting was renewed in the packing house district when a mob of strikers attacked L. King, a negro special policeman, as he was entering the plant of Armour & Co. The mob threw stones and King ran, but he finally made a stand and shot two of his assailants, Matt Sullivan and Max Lameska, neither of whom was seriously wounded. When a squad of police reached the scene most of the men had escaped, but six of them, including Sullivan, were arrested.

Slocum Indictments.

New York, July 30.—Captain W. H. Van Schieck and Steamboat Inspectors Landberg and Henning have been indicted by the federal grand jury which has been considering the Slocum disaster.

Overheard on the Pike.

A camel once complained that he could not get Ready-made Clothing to fit him.

To whom swiftly the Ostrich replied: "That is because you do not hump yourself in time."

Moral: Don't be a camel—be a bird.

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

C. H. Preble, the champion bear hunter and his companion, Mr. Williams, caught another big bear at Lincoln this week.

The animal, which would doubtless weigh nearly 400 pounds, was caught and held by its nose in a trap weighing only four pounds and thus securely held, being dead when found. Mr. Preble, who has taken over 100 bears, says he never knew of a similar instance. The bear was one of the largest ever taken in this vicinity.

Louis Hancock, who lives in the Farrell tenement in Swanton, was carrying a bottle with the cork out partly filled with gasoline across her kitchen Thursday. When near the stove where there was a good fire burning, the fumes from the bottle caught fire. She dropped the bottle and yelled fire and then commenced to throw water on the bottle. By doing this she saved the floor from burning, but the gasoline kept burning just the same. Fred Brown, who had heard her call, rushed into the house and taking a wet cloth threw it over the blaze, smothering it.

In the second attempt to arrest Irving Drew of Essex Junction Wednesday afternoon Deputy Sheriff Lee Ravlin of Winoski, fired a shot in his right thigh. Drew was making an attempt to evade the officers and had already taken to the tall timber. The command to halt had no effect upon him so the sheriff took this way to get his man. It seems that he had sold a mortgaged horse and was wanted on a body writ. Dr. C. M. Ferrin was called, and made an examination. He probed for the bullet to the depth of about two inches, but could not locate it.

CONDITION OF TRADE.

The Week's Advances in the Main Satisfactory.

New York, July 30.—The advances received this week from special agents of the International Mercantile agency at the leading trade centers of the country are, in the main, satisfactory. The spirit of optimism is growing, and confidence in a good fall and winter business increases from week to week. Current activity in the different industrial lines is not great, but it is better than it was a year ago, with the very wholesome influence of a faith in better things. A decided reaction has occurred in the movement of stocks, but this is not due to any material change in business prospects.

There has been good growing weather for the crops, which are approaching harvest under continued improved conditions. In the spring wheat sections of the northwest some rust has been discovered, which will reduce the yield. Harvesting is in progress in nearly all of the leading winter wheat states, and the results are better than farmers thought they would be two weeks ago. It is beginning to be believed, though, that the total yield will leave a small exportable surplus, and that the price of wheat and flour during the next twelve months will be high. The speculative months are now at the top prices for this movement, having been helped by a war scare, which produce an opposite effect on stocks.

The returns on wheat in the southwest stimulated business in that part of the country. Collections in the St. Louis district have far exceeded those of last year. Fall orders being received are beyond expectations. Boots and shoes have been in especially good demand, though clothing is slow. Dallas reports bright trade prospects.

The packing house strike casts a shadow over trade in Chicago, even with advance orders for clothing, men's furnishings, shoes and wearing apparel quite satisfactory. Indianapolis indicates some improvement in dry goods and shoes, though with hardware behind last year. The most gratifying trade statements of all are those from Pittsburg. This is due to the improvement that has come about in the iron and steel trade. The tone in this basic trade is certainly much better than it has been in a year, and a sharp revival in it is not improbable after election.

According to R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade, liabilities of commercial failures thus far reported for July aggregated $7,401,462, of which $3,175,214 was in manufacturing, $3,769,125 in trading and $457,123 in other commercial lines. Failures this week numbered 220 in the United States against 190 last year, and 18 in Canada compared with 19 a year ago.

The special feature in honor of the guests will be a band concert each afternoon in front of the inn.
